

“Voice of Books” Literary Reading Club

The “Voice of Books” literary reading club is actively operating under the Department of Translation and Philology at Azerbaijan University. This club provides a dynamic platform for students who are passionate about literature and the art of expression.

Within the club, a variety of literary works are brought to the table for discussion. Each session focuses on analyzing different texts, encouraging critical thinking, cultural exchange, and open dialogue among members. At the end of every meeting, a new book is selected for the next session, keeping the momentum going and nurturing a continuous reading culture.

More than just a reading circle, “Voice of Books” serves as a creative space where students improve their oratory skills, enrich their literary appreciation, and build a deeper connection with world literature. It also fosters a sense of community, where like-minded individuals can come together to share insights and inspirations drawn from the pages of great works.

